Beachside Sumner

PROJECT #4

Speaker:

JAMES LUNDAY

James Lunday is an Urban Designer/Urban Planner with qualifications and over 40 years' experience, in architecture, planning and urban design.

James arrived in New Zealand in 1990 to take up a senior lectureship at Auckland University and the Executive Director of the Auckland Heritage Trust. During this time James established his own company, Common Ground, setting up the full-time practice in 1998. He is the driving design force, owner, and Principal behind Common Ground, which is responsible for designing and delivering many projects throughout New Zealand and Overseas.

His strong background in Communicating creative concepts and strategies, Urban Planning and Design, Landscape Planning and Architectural Design has enabled him to fully grasp the challenge of creating Urban Spatial Plans, Master-plans, City Revitalisation Programmes, Retail Planning and building and leading the multidisciplinary teams necessary to deliver the outcomes and infrastructure interventions.

James re-located to Christchurch to take up the position of GM at regenerate Christchurch to contribute to the post-earthquake rebuild. Having completed that contract, he has returned to private practice and his Common Ground Family.
